Kathmandu, Pokhara, Chitwan Tour – 11 Days

Trip Overview

Kathmandu, Pokhara, and Chitwan are Nepal's top destinations as they offer natural and cultural beauty altogether. Kathmandu has temples of hundreds of years, monasteries, and heritage sites that invite thousands of tourists every year due to their strikingly historic and architectural enigma, besides being a modern city; no doubt tourists get startled by the fact how it is still so much connected to its ancient cultural practices.

Chitwan is a well-known destination for its natural beauty and national park where endangered animals like the one-horned rhino, Bengal tiger, gharial, etc are conserved. People often visit here for jungle safari activities to spot such rare animals and enjoy the peaceful calm forest environment. Pokhara is the tourist city of Nepal. Mind-blowing view of giant mountain ranges, beautiful lakes, and thrilling adventure activities makes this city a top-notch domestic as well as global tourist attraction spot.

FAQs

Which is a less expensive city: Kathmandu, Chitwan, or Pokhara?

Kathmandu is normally the cheapest place of all these as it provides pocket-friendly options for living and dining. Chitwan is considered slightly more expensive due to being a popular wildlife safari hub.

Pokhara, a tourist magnet, can be extremely expensive in its peak seasons. Hotels, dining and shopping can be very expensive. However, it is all in the hands of the traveller and how they choose to design their trip.

Are domestic flights safe in Nepal?

Yes. The aviation industry is doing its best to improve the condition of safety measures of airlines in Nepal. While accidents can happen anytime and anywhere, many flights have a good safety record. It is also necessary to research the airlines that you want to travel with and their safety record. Also, check the weather update before flying anywhere as that is also a big factor.

Why is Pokhara more beautiful than Kathmandu?

The beauty of Kathmandu and Pokhara can not be compared. While Kathmandu attracts people due to its cultural richness and history, Pokhara is rather on the natural and adventure side. This visually captivating city has stunning landscapes, lakes and mountain scenes, things Kathmandu does not have.
